Unruly Crowd Battles Grand Rapids Police

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An unruly crowd of more than 100 persons, some throwing rocks and breaking bottles, harassed police Friday night as they arrested a shotgun-wielding youth, officers said.

Thearica Ezell, 19, was arrested after police received a complaint that one man with a shotgun was yelling and chasing another man along a street. Patrolman James Dingman said a spectator wrestled the gun from Ezell's hands and the youth was handcuffed after a scuffle and placed in a police cruiser.

A crowd soon gathered, Dingman said, and sought to keep him and his partner from taking the youth to police headquarters. He summoned aid.

All available on-duty officers, equipped with riot guns, were sent to the scene on the near southeast side, and Police Supt. William A. Johnson, Police said the crowd, all Negroes, dispersed soon after reinforcements arrived—about an hour after it had gathered.

Police said they confiscated a 12-gauge shotgun and one shell from Ezell. They said the man being chased faded into the crowd and was not identified.

Motorist Franklin Longneck, 23, said his car and another auto were damaged slightly by thrown objects.

Romney Gains Prestige From GOP Conclave

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Michigan's Republicans left the GOP national convention this week wearing Goldwater for President buttons on their lapels but with uncertainty in their hearts.

It would be no surprise to observers if some of the Goldwater buttons came off in the near future.

Gov. George W. Romney reflected the mood of many of the convention delegates when he declared that he had reservations about the 1964 platform in the issues of extremism and civil rights.

Although Romney did not flatly disassociate himself from the national campaign of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, the governor nevertheless made it clear that he may do so at a later date depending on the conduct of the presidential campaign.

Slap In Face
Romney listened to Goldwater's defense of extremism in tight-lipped silence at the closing session of the convention. It was a figurative slap in the face for the governor, who fought hard to get a platform plank denouncing extremism.

If Romney does decide to go it alone, the move will not be appreciated by staunch Goldwater supporters in Michigan or elsewhere, but some observers believe it may do him more good than harm when the votes are counted in the gubernatorial race next November.

This observation is based on the fact that Michigan has a heavy labor vote, the bulk of which is expected to be hostile to Goldwater.

How did Romney's image emerge from the convention itself?

In the view of most members of the Michigan delegation the governor's stature increased materially. He was given a standing ovation in several caucuses.

"The reaction I've had from many sources is that people liked what he said and liked the way he said it," declared national committeeman John Martin of Grand Rapids in an interview. "People at the convention were very much impressed."

Martin pointed out that Romney took a relatively independent role at the convention in his fight for anti-extremism and anti-discrimination planks.

"I don't think he lost anything by losing the votes," Martin said. "In fact, I think he may have gained by it because it was pretty well known in advance that the big battalions were on the other side."

"So it showed a considerable amount of courage to be able to stand up and face the gun in spite of that, knowing that you're probably going down to defeat."

How does Romney look as a potential 1968 presidential candidate?

Presidential Caliber
From Martin's point of view: "I think Romney without any question is of presidential caliber."

"I've always thought that, and should be interested in 1968, he would not face the obstacles within the state which he was confronted with this time—the problem of a commitment to stay through and do a job as governor."

"Those problems will have evaporated by that time and he will be free to do what he wants to do."

Trick Play Made In Space By US

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States has completed two-thirds of a tricky trick play in space by maneuvering one of two nuclear detection satellites into a circular orbit.

The triple is scheduled for completion about noon (EST) Sunday when the second Sentry satellite is to be jockeyed into a similar high-altitude orbit about 65,000 above the earth.

The two sentries were part of a three - satellite package launched from Cape Kennedy Friday atop an Atlas - Agena rocket. The third satellite is a 4.5-pound Pygmy, carrying devices to measure electrons in the Van Allen radiation belt.

The Sentry satellites, each weighing 493 pounds, are forerunners of a network of orbiting stations designed to detect violations of the limited nuclear test ban treaty with bomb detonations in space.

All three payloads were injected into separate elongated orbits from 120 to 65,000 miles out. The Pygmy package will continue on this path.

Friday night, 19 hours after launching, a radio signal ignited a rocket aboard Sentry No. 1. The action jolted the vehicle onto a circular path.

Pay Increases Coming For U.S. Armed Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prompt Senate approval of fatter envelopes for nearly two million persons in the nation's armed forces appeared likely today.

If the House, as expected, agrees to details of the pending Senate bill, the pay boosts could become effective either in August or September.

The annual cost would be $207 million.

The measure calls for monthly increases ranging from $49.30 for top generals and admirals down to $3 for privates and apprentice seamen.

These represent an increase of 2½ per cent in base pay for all commissioned and warrant officers and identical boosts for all noncommissioned officers and enlisted personnel with more than two years service.

A larger boost of 8½ per cent in base pay would go to commissioned and warrant officers with less than two years service.

This would amount to $19 more monthly for a second lieutenant, $22 for a first lieutenant, $28 for a captain and $34 for a major.

The increases were unanimously recommended to the Senate by its Armed Services Committee shortly after the Senate approved a $558 million pay increase for 1.7 million federal civilian employees and officials.

In addition to the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps, the increases would apply to the Coast Guard, Public Health Service and the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Johnson City, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson announces today the third cut in red ink spending in the federal budget for the 1964 bookkeeping year.

Johnson scheduled a news conference at his ranch home near here to disclose final figures for the fiscal year that ended June 30.

In advance, he made no secret of the fact that the deficit would be notably lower than the $8.8 billion level he forecast less than two months ago.

On May 21, Johnson predicted that federal spending would total $98.3 billion in fiscal 1964, compared with revenues of $89.5 billion.

Since these estimates were announced, federal spending reportedly was cut below the May prediction and revenues spurred.

Although the final statistics were kept secret until the news conference, it was known that reduced spending and increased receipts would yield a significant cutback in the deficit total.

While increasing deficits have been fairly commonplace in recent years, the figures for fiscal 1964 have dropped steadily.

When the late President John F. Kennedy first proposed a budget for the year, he foresaw a deficit of $11.9 billion. Last January, Johnson said the deficit would be reduced to $10 billion. Then came the cut to $8.8 billion. And now comes a further slash.

Johnson flew to his ranch home here Friday.

Women Accused Of Embezzling
ALLEGAN (AP)—Mrs. Richard Baker of Twin Lakes was arraigned Friday on charges stemming from the alleged embezzlement of $40,000 from the Allegan County Social Welfare Department.

Mrs. Baker, 32, is the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Beatrice Guscinski, director of the department, who was arrested Tuesday on embezzlement charges.

Allegan County Prosecutor E. L. Andrews said Mrs. Baker admitted cashing department checks to obtain the money. Andrews said she allegedly took the money to pay medical bills incurred as the result of the illness of a child who later died.

Mrs. Baker was arraigned before Municipal Judge Dwight Cheevers on charges of uttering and publishing. She waived examination and was ordered held on $10,000 bond. Circuit Court examination was set for next Friday.

Mrs. Guscinski, 55, was arraigned Wednesday on embezzlement charges. Auditor General Billie Farnum said earlier the shortage of funds was discovered by a routine check of his department. He charged that Mrs. Guscinski took the money by forging fictitious names on food bills for county medical facilities.

Farnum also charged that Mrs. Guscinski said she took the money to pay for a mortgage and car payments and to free herself of debt.

The money has not been recovered.

Two Kidnapers Of Sinatra May Receive Paroles
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lighter sentences and the possibility of parole were granted for two of three men convicted in the kidnaping of Frank Sinatra Jr., son of the singer.

Barry Worthington Keenan and Joseph Clyde Amsler, originally sentenced to terms of life plus 75 years, heard the terms reduced to 25 years. The judge said he originally gave the pair maximum sentences to make them eligible for a psychiatric examination.

The pair, both 23, and John W. Irwin, 42, were convicted of plotting to kidnap young Sinatra last December, then releasing him in three days after his father paid $400,000 in ransom.

Irwin, found innocent of participation in the actual abduction, drew a term of 16 years and eight months.

Protest Sent After Incident In Black Sea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The firing of three shots across the bow of an American grain ship in the Black Sea by a Soviet naval vessel has been termed "excessive" and "clearly outside the norms of acceptable behavior" by the State Department.

At the same time, the department conceded that the action "may have been within strictly legal rights."

The department said a Soviet naval vessel halted the SS Sister Katingo last Wednesday, boarded it and forced the captain to pay a fine. The American ship had left the port of Novorossiysk without permission after a wage dispute.

No injuries or damages were reported.

Stevodore Pay Involved
Officials here said Friday that the ship's captain, Arthur H. Fertig, 44, of Wading River, N.Y., reported the ship was stopped when it was 16.3 miles from land—outside Soviet territorial waters.

Soviet authorities "may have been within strictly legal rights," according to international law, to pursue, board and search the Katingo, the department said. But it added: "The methods employed by Soviet authorities were excessive and clearly outside the norms of acceptable behavior."

An oral protest was delivered here to Georgi M. Kornienko, Soviet minister counselor, by Acting Asst. Secretary of State Richard Davis.

He told Kornienko to request that his government "undertake measures to prevent a repetition of this incident."

The department said the incident stemmed from different means of paying Soviet stevedores. According to Fertig's report, it said, the ship had the choice to pay either $3 per hour per man for unloading its cargo of 32,436 tons of grain, or 50 cents per cargo ton. Fertig chose the $3 per man rate.

This apparently displeased Soviet authorities, and the dispute was referred to the Soviet Ministry of Merchant Marine in Moscow. It ruled that the dispute be arbitrated and that the Katingo be permitted to leave after discharging its cargo.

The local authorities refused, however, to clear the ship, and it left Wednesday without permission.

According to the captain's report, the ship was pursued by a Soviet patrol boat flying international signals with orders to return. When it "failed to heed the order, a Soviet naval craft fired three rounds across the bow of the ship," the State Department said.

After a search the Soviets forced the captain to pay a 50-ruble (about $55) fine and permitted him to continue to Istanbul.

The ship, owned by Nautilus Petroleum Carriers Corp. of New York City, carried a cargo loaded in Canada but owned by Cargill, Inc., of Minneapolis.

Cruiser Sunk By Barge Cable
NEW YORK (AP)—A man and his wife spent 2½ hours on a tug-towed barge in the Atlantic Ocean Friday and the Coast Guard called their experience "one of the weirdest mishaps in a long time."

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Steward of Coventry, Conn., were chugging along aboard their cabin cruiser in dense fog 10 miles off the eastern tip of Long Island when they found themselves between a tug and its barge.

The towing cable caught the bow of their 30-foot cruiser and lifted it from the water. As the boat slid back toward the barge, the stern started shipping water.

The couple clambered along the tow rope to the barge, where they sat until the fog cleared and they could signal the tug. Their cruiser had disappeared. Only some mattresses and other cabin equipment were found.

A Coast Guard cutter rescued the couple.

Arlene Tebbenjohanns

CHICAGO (AP) — Convicted wife-slayer Dr. Sam Sheppard and his fiancée rolled quietly into Chicago late Friday night in a new yellow limousine just hours after he was released from the Ohio Penitentiary.

The Chicago Tribune said the osteopathic surgeon, free on $10,000 bond, would be married later today to statuesque Arlene Tebbenjohanns, the German divorcee he became engaged to while in prison.

Pose For Pictures
A Tribune reporter accompanied the couple on the drive from Columbus, Ohio. They left that city after Sheppard's release from the penitentiary. He had been in prison nearly nine years for the budgeless slaying of his wife, Marilyn, in 1954. He has claimed he is innocent of the crime.

As Mrs. Tebbenjohanns' auto pulled away from a Columbus motel, Dr. Sheppard called out that they would marry "as soon as possible."

Once in Chicago, Sheppard, 40, and his blonde fiancée, 35, were taken to the Tribune Tower, where they posed for pictures.

The newspaper said Sheppard and Mrs. Tebbenjohanns were taken to separate hideaways understandings. Sheppard was taken to a hotel, and Mrs. Tebbenjohanns to a private apartment.

The clerk, Chester Williams, died two years ago.

Williams was found ill and alone in 1959. He was placed in a nursing home, where he died at the age of 86.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—William A. Birdsill's car went down the drain.

State Building Transfer Ready

The State of Michigan will become owners of the city-owned State Office Building at a meeting in Escanaba Aug. 3, when the transfer of the property will be completed.

City Manager George Harvey told the City Council at its Thursday night meeting that State Controller Glen Allen will be here for the Aug. 3 session that will conclude several years of negotiations relating to the sale of the facility.

The State Office Building was constructed with funds bequeathed to the city by the late Catherine Bonifas. Of the $300,000 total one-third was designated for recreation facilities. The sale of the building to the State will restore the fund for that purpose.

The City Council acting as trustees of the Bonifas fund on Thursday night authorized the drawing of agreements conveying the State Office Building and two adjacent lots south of the structure to the State of Michigan. Each Councilman as a trustee of the fund will sign the deed.

The two lots at the rear of the building, plus 100 feet of vacated alley, will become the property of the state as the site for a proposed State Health Department laboratory. The Council approved the vacating of the alley portion Thursday night.

In another action the Council agreed to a request of the State to continue its arrangement for custodial maintenance of the State Office Building. The city will enter into a contract with the State to provide this service, for which it will be reimbursed.

The City Council on other matters adopted a resolution expressing appreciation to Wesley Hansen, general chairman of the Iron Ore Centennial committee, and all others instrumental in making the celebration a success.

The Council authorized the drafting of a resolution in support of the proposed Pictured Rocks National Park, on which a hearing is to be held in Escanaba beginning Monday.

THE DICK SMITHS' attractive Kim Ran Resort in the estuary of the Whitefish River used to have a little dock in front of each of its guest cottages so they could bring their boats up to the front door. When the water level in the Great Lakes fell they could no longer run a motorboat out to the dock blinds in the shallows at the Head of the Bay. The resort had a boat channel bulldozed. Now it's a deadend, the blinds are high and dry and guests must go a piece to get into boats for fishing on the Whitefish or in Little Bay de Noc. This is a view from the resort dock, with its created, dead-end pond in foreground and the Head of the Bay beyond, once water covered and now a marsh. Duck blinds can be seen in the background. Low Water Has Caused Enormous Losses In Area

By KENNETH S. LOWE

Low water levels on Lakes Michigan and Huron are playing havoc with recreational activities along the Great Lakes shoreline of the Upper Peninsula.

Boating, fishing and hunting have been hampered by the exposure of what normally are bottomlands, but the effects of the low water level also have been costly to business and industrial interests.

The situation on Lake Superior is not nearly so bad. That is because the level on the world's largest inland lake is more nearly normal.

If the normal water level is considered to be the average of the past 103 years, then the Lake Michigan and Lake Huron level this spring was 39 inches below normal. Lake Superior was only five inches below normal.

(The problem of low water levels in the Great Lakes is expected to head the list of issues taken up this year by the Great Lakes Commission. Included in the study will be the feasibility of diverting Canadian and American rivers into the lakes to provide more water, Commission Chairman Albert J. Meserow said in New York earlier this month.)

Docks Are Dry

Biggest problem posed for recreationists by the exposed bottom lands has been difficulty of access. Docks have been left on dry land, duck hunting blinds have been "stranded" on beaches and boat launching sites have been wiped out.

James Scully, Marquette, regional fisheries supervisor for the Michigan Department of Conservation, said a public fishing site near Garden on Lake Michigan is almost unusable because of the low water. Fishermen who want to launch boats there now have to drag their craft a half a mile across exposed bottom lands to reach water. This is by no means an isolated case.

"And," said Scully, "a lot of big rocks are showing up along the shallows."

Scully maintained, however, that fishing success had not been hampered by the low water level. Some anglers disagree. They say that the famed walleye fishing at Breezy Point at the head of Green Bay, for instance, has been ruined by the low water.

Marine Deputy Paul Corcoran of Escanaba reported a sharp reduction in the number of boat livers in Delta County. He said boat livers, which numbered more than 40 in the peak period around 1953, are now down to 14 and listed a decline in the water level as one of the principal reasons.

"Pitiful Thing"

"Dockage is a pitiful thing along the Lake Michigan shoreline," said William E. Laycock, Marquette, regional game supervisor for the conservation department.

Many duck blinds at Portage Point at Escanaba, one of the Upper Peninsula's most popular waterfowl hunting grounds, aren't in water anymore, he said.

The waterfowl population there hasn't been adversely affected by the low water level, but Laycock attributes this to the blasting of potholes there as a waterfowl habitat improvement project last year.

"Muskrat populations are off because of low water," Laycock said, "and some beaver ponds have dried up and we probably have lost some of these animals as a result."

Shipping Affected

The Conservation Department is being flooded with mail from shoreline owners who want approval to dredge channels through exposed bottom lands to give them access to receding waters. Others are planning to fill in previously submerged lands so they will have larger lots when waters return to their normal levels. By law, permits are required from the department and U.S. Corps of Engineers before these projects can be undertaken on Great Lakes bottom lands.

Charles Burton, Gladstone realtor, said the situation is so bad that he doesn't like to show lake frontage these days. Low water levels have severely affected the market.

And low water levels are the chief reason the Chicago & North Western Railroad is spending $1,300,000 on a project to deepen the harbor at its iron ore loading dock in Escanaba. Because of low water, ore carriers were forced to leave port with 3,000 or 4,000 tons less than they are capable of carrying.

At Port Inland near Manistique, Inland Steel Co. has been having trouble loading limestone into its carriers because of the low water.

Venison Used For Bait Brings Fine

Milton Wunder, 25, of Bark River Rte. 1, today pleaded guilty before Associate Judge Robert Hansley in Municipal Court to a charge of using portions of a protected game animal for baiting traps.

Conservation Officer Hugh Fisher who made the arrest on the conservation charge Friday said portions of venison were used for bait.

Wunder was ordered to pay a fine of $100 and costs of $7.30 or to serve 30 days in jail. He was given until Monday to pay the fine.

Sheriff Seeks Fifth Term

Sheriff Johnson

Sheriff C. A. (Cully) Johnson has announced his candidacy for renomination for Sheriff of Delta County on the Democratic ticket. Nominating petitions were filed Friday.

Sheriff Johnson was elected to Sheriff in 1956 after serving 11 years as under-sheriff and Deputy to the late William E. Miron.

Johnson is a graduate of the Escanaba High School class of 1933. After graduation, he was employed by the I. Stephenson Lumber Company until 1943.

When World War II began, he served with the Michigan State Troops in the security arrangements at the Chicago & Northwestern Ore Docks at Escanaba.

In August, 1943, he entered the U. S. Army, serving with the 36th Division, 141st Infantry, Company "C". Johnson served in the Italian Theatre of War until he became a casualty. Beavers Caused Huge Hatchery Loss Of Trout

By Kenneth S. Lowe

MANISTIQUE — Beavers can help trout by building dams that create ponds for the fish, but they also can build dams that can massacre trout.

For it was beavers, apparently, that triggered the die-off of nearly 700,000 brook, brown and rainbow trout at the state fish hatchery at Thompson near here last week.

Glenn C. Gregg, Marquette, regional manager of the Michigan Department of Conservation, and James Scully, Marquette, regional fish supervisor, flew here Thursday for an on-the-spot investigation of the incident and a survey of steps that might be taken to prevent its repetition.

The July 10 trout kill was the greatest loss ever sustained at any Michigan hatchery.

An interview with Martin Miller, hatchery superintendent, and study of a report prepared by him regarding the trout kill led to the conclusion that a hastily built beaver dam on Thompson Creek, source of water supply for Unit 1 at the hatchery, was the catalyst that led to the wholesale die-off.

Miller said the oxygen content in the Unit 1 trout pools was 7.75 parts per million (ppm) on the afternoon of July 9. On the morning of July 10, it had dropped to 1.50 ppm. The minimum for trout survival is 4 ppm. What caused the sudden drop that resulted in suffocation of the trout?

Miller thinks it was a combination of three things—hot, humid weather, a water weed called Elodia and a colony of beaver.

Oxygen Cut

"Hot weather with temperatures in the high 90's and without rain for over a week caused the Elodia to absorb the oxygen from the water before it entered our pond system," he said.

Hot weather reduces the amount of oxygen that water absorbs, and Thompson Creek was choked with enough Elodia to siphon off a lot of oxygen. Even so, it doesn't seem likely that these two factors in combination could have accounted for such a rapid drop in oxygen content. But add a beaver dam upstream on the Thompson Creek to this set of circumstances, and you probably have the fatal combination.

Miller said a crew of prison inmate laborers was assigned to break through the dam on July 9. They created an opening 12 feet wide by three feet deep, he said. "At 11 p.m., I went back to the dam and found there wasn't any (beaver) activity, so I thought it safe to retire for the night," he added.

But the following morning the ponds were full of dead fish. The water flowage was low. An inspection of the dam showed that the beaver had rebuilt it sufficiently to stop the water, which probably accounted for the sharp drop in oxygen content of the water in Unit 1.

First reports indicated that approximately 650,000 brook and rainbow trout were lost. But Miller's tabulation shows 416,500 brook trout, 214,000 brook trout and 69,300 brown trout were killed, for a total of 699,800.

All but about 50,000 of the fish were fingerlings of between one and a half and one and three-quarters inches in length, Miller said.

A large number of trout were saved by transferring them to Unit 2, three-quarters of a mile north of the Unit 1 pools. Unit 2 pools are fed by a spring, which is immune to the effects of heat, Elodia or beaver.

Miller said, "The condition of the creek was so bad that the wild trout between the two units were dying also. I personally observed dead brook, brown and rainbow as large as 17 to 20 inches."

Gregg and Scully discussed corrective steps with Miller to reduce the possibility of a repetition of the die-off.

One proposal would involve running a 16-inch pipe from the spring at Unit 2, which has a flow of 1,385 gallons per minute, directly to Unit 1. The spring water is too cold for optimum trout growth, but it could be mixed at Unit 1 with water from Thompson Creek to give the desired temperature.

Another proposal calls for re-routing Thompson Creek. The creek now follows a twisting route that slows water flow and permits Elodia to grow rapidly. By re-routing the creek in almost straight line, the water flow would be speeded so that the oxygen content would be kept higher. A re-routed creek also would permit better control over Elodia, which is a form of watercress that grows exceedingly fast.

Crews already have begun working on a ditch to re-route the creek. When it is completed, hatchery workers may find that it will solve the problem so that the pipeline from the spring will not be needed.

Clevenger First Congress Filer

LANSING — Raymond F. Clevenger, Sault Ste. Marie attorney, is the first Democrat of five announced candidates to file nominating petitions for the new 11th congressional district which covers one-third of Michigan.

Clevenger, former Michigan corporation and securities commissioner, filed petitions for the district covering 22 counties, 15 in the Upper Peninsula and seven in the northern Lower Peninsula, with Secretary of State James Hare on Friday. He is a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the primary election Sept. 1.

Deadline for filing is Tuesday, July 21.

Clevenger said he was forced to discard one complete set of nominating petitions because of the redistricting order, which established June 10 as the effective date of the new district. Kicking off his campaign in Marquette on March 11, Clevenger was prepared to file on June 16. However, the attorney general ruled that petitions circulated before June 10 were invalid, so Clevenger discarded that set and circulated a new set.

Clevenger, 38, has been a Sault Ste. Marie attorney since shortly after his graduation from law school 12 years ago.

There was one interruption in his Sault career when he served for two years — 1961 to 1963 — as head of the $79,600,000-a-year Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission in Lansing.

Clevenger's term in that job ended last fall and he resumed his Sault law practice and traveled throughout the Upper Peninsula in preliminary organization for his campaign for Congress.

He was born June 6, 1926, in Chicago and attended Oak Park High School in Oak Park, Ill. In 1944 at 18 he volunteered for military service and was assigned to the U.S. Army Medical Corps and served two years in Europe with a evacuation hospital unit.

Returning to the States in 1946, Clevenger studied three years at Roosevelt University, Chicago, one year at the London School of Economics and Political Science in England, and three years at the University of Michigan Law School, receiving his law degree in 1952.

During his studies in Chicago he met his wife, the former Francine Corbat of Richmond, Mich., who was a student at Antioch College. They were married in 1948 and now have five children, three boys and two girls.

Mrs. Clevenger studied with her husband in London and Ann Arbor and received her F.A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1952.

Clevenger worked briefly in 1952 as a research associate with the Legislative Research Center at the University of Michigan law school. After being admitted to the bar in Illinois and Michigan, he moved to the Sault to become a legal associate of Paul L. Adams, now a Michigan Supreme Court justice, and James Fenlon, Sault municipal judge.

In the Sault Clevenger has served as circuit court commissioner, acting municipal judge, and as a member of the Sault Ste. Marie Park Commission, the Sault Industrial Commission, and the Sault Community Council for youth work.

Miss Johnson Is Office Supervisor

Cary Elizabeth Johnson, formerly of 115 N. 13th St., Escanaba, is now in Waterloo, Iowa, where she assumed her duties as office supervisor of the Prudential Insurance Co. in that city.

Her employment with Prudential began immediately upon graduation from Bark River Harris High School in 1957 in the personnel department of the home office in Chicago, transferring in 1960 to the local office at Escanaba. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Elmer Johnson, Bark River Rte. 1.

Republican Primary

Upper Peninsula voters on Sept. 1 will choose between two Republican congressmen who are serving them now. The fortunes of politics have combined the present 11th and 12th Congressional Districts into the new 11th, which will embrace, besides the 15 counties in the Upper Peninsula, 7 counties in the top of the Lower Peninsula.

The decision of Republican voters will be the more difficult because they have been well served by both incumbents. The Republican nominee will face the Democratic nominee in the Nov. 3 election. There are three announced candidates for the Democratic nomination in the new district, Atty. Raymond Clevenger of Sault Ste. Marie, Atty. Russell Bradley of Menominee and Atty. Theodore Albert of Ironwood.

Rep. John B. Bennett is the dean of the Michigan delegation in Congress, running on a record of 20 years of performance in Congress and asking election in a congressional district which has more than twice the population (403,507) of his old district (177,431).

Bennett is ranking member of the House Administration Committee and senior Republican member of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which has legislative jurisdiction over transportation, aeronautics, trade practices, finance, communications and power. Should the Republicans win control of Congress, he would become chairman of the committee. He represents Michigan on the Committee on Committees which makes all Republican committee assignments.

He has been active in economic development work and was helpful to the project that got government aid in financing the White Pine copper mine, now the largest industrial employer in the Upper Peninsula.

He was born in Garden, Delta County, Jan. 10, 1904, graduated from Watersmeet High School, and is an alumnus of Marquette University Law School and the University of Chicago Law School. He was admitted to the practice of law in Wisconsin in 1925 and in Michigan the next year, served as prosecuting attorney of Ontonagon County for three terms, and was deputy commissioner of the State Commission of Labor and Industry in 1935-37. Mrs. Bennett is the former Corinne Waldhuetter of Milwaukee and they have three children.

John Bennett was elected to the 78th Congress in 1942 and served in it in 1943-44, was out of the 79th Congress, and was elected to the 80th in 1946 and has served in every Congress since, 10 in all.

His biographical sketch in the Congressional Directory is one of the most distinctive in the volume. Eschewing all biography it says only: "John B. Bennett, Republican of Ontonagon, Mich.; representing the smallest (in population) but the most important district in the United States; elected to the 78th, 80th and all succeeding Congresses."

All of Bennett's present district is incorporated in the new 11th, and all of the 11th District of Congressman Victor A. Knox except Antrim and Kalkaska counties below the Straits of Michigan. Populationwise Knox's old district contributes more to the new one than the 12th.

Knox, of Sault Ste. Marie, was born Jan. 13, 1899 on a farm in Northern Michigan and he was a farmer and retail merchant before entering politics. His first political office at 24 was treasurer of Soo Township in Chippewa County; he served six years as township supervisor and then 16 years in the Legislature, 6 of them as speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives. He served on the State Planning Commission, the State Crime Commission and the Council of State Government. He is married to the former Bertha Knowles of Sault Ste. Marie and their son, William, is editor of Hoard's Dairyman of Ft. Atkinson, Wis.

Knox is a member of the House Committee on Ways and Means and of the National Republican Congressional Committee. He has been consistently conservative and critical of foreign aid spending, but voted for the Accelerated Public Works Program and like measures. Both he and Bennett have been responsive to the inquiries and needs of their constituents and now each of the veteran congressmen—Knox has served six terms starting in 1953—faces the necessity of becoming more familiar in the Upper Peninsula—Bennett in the eastern half and the tip of the Lower Peninsula, and Knox in the mineral ranges of the western U.P., where Bennett, the younger man, has been a congressman for 20 years.

Finding The Way

Amend Ourselves, Instead

By Ralph W. Loew, D.D.

About a hundred years ago

a poet suggested:

"Lord, what a change within us one short hour

Spent in Thy presence will prevail to make."

It was his confidence that prayer would make the difference!

One wonders about the dimensions of that difference, if all of the people who have been writing their letters concerning the proposed amendments to the Constitution demanding prayers in our schools, would all pray! There is just the possibility that we have been shifting the responsibility from ourselves to others. It seems easier to amend the Constitution than ourselves.

Frankly, it seems too restrictive an interpretation to ban prayers from schools. The separation of church and state had to do with the binding of a government to a particular form of religious practice. That doesn't mean that we can't recognize

God, or open a session of the legislature or a school with prayer or include 'under

God' in a pledge of allegiance

To denude our life of the mention of God is to make our public and civic life completely secular.

It is one thing to ban prayer or to require it. To demand prayer on the basis of some of the logic expressed in Congress recently is another thing. One legislator insists that we must have prayer in our schools since that is the only place some students would meet the custom of prayer. Is this the business of our school system? Are we to shift the obligations of all other agencies of society to the schools?

To repeat a prayer in school ought not to be an affront to the Constitution,

but by the same token,

this formal repetition is hardly prayer. This would make the classroom act a pious form of idolatry. There should be freedom to repeat a prayer, but it is not the school's business to hold religious services. It is not the school's responsibility to instruct in how to pray.

The same freedom which makes it possible for an American to worship in freedom demands a sense of responsibility for that worship. If the present controversy serves to emphasize this need of personally developing a life of prayer and the urgency of sharing a life of prayer in the whole of our existence, then it will have emphasized an important hunger. "We kneel how weak; we rise how full of power." We need to experience it

Washington Comment

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—

Before Sen. Barry Goldwater left Washington for the Republican convention in San Francisco, some television reporters tried to catch him for an interview. After a long wait, a secretary told them: "The senator isn't sure he'll appear."

One of the newsmen exploded:

"If he can't decide in an hour and half whether or not to go on television, how the heck can he hope to run the country?"

ON THEIR WAY to San Francisco, aides to Pennsylvania

Gov. William Scranton

composed a campaign song

which was quickly pigeonholed once the GOP Convention began.

Sung to the tune of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," it went like this:

"I settled down a week ago

And I tallied up the doubtfuls at three hundred forty-four.

So halting Barry safely is a

"I'm phoning eighty delegates

Subtracting eighty votes."

FOR THE LAST five months,

the Federal Aviation Agency,

(FAA) has been conducting tests over Oklahoma City to determine the effects of sonic

booms on homes and office buildings.

Latest development is the unexpected finding that the sonic boom created by a super-sonic plane can be magnified by the time it hits the ground.

What effects this magnification will have on FAA's super-sonic airliner program is anybody's guess. FAA Administrator

Najeeb Halaby carefully avoids all questions on this subject.

"We'll just have to wait until the Oklahoma City tests are completed next October," Hal-aby said at a recent press conference. "Lots of factors contribute to the sonic boom—thunderstorms and winds for example. And in my home at least, three children create a heavy disturbance force."

"The last thing I want to do," he added in a low voice,

"is to disturb the sonic boom

tests with my own booming voice."

AFTER A GRUELING all-night session of the Drafting

Subcommittee of the Republicans Platform Committee, Sen.

Hugh Scott, R-Pa., disgustedly

noted:

"Like all groups, we have our nit-pickers—some of

"ODCSPER—I love you"

is written in a Pentagon washroom reserved for top brass.

Translated, "O D C S P E R"

Speculation is that the message was written by a newly

Mary L. Perryman Robert Caron's Bride

Tall vases holding arrangements of yellow and white gladiolus and pompons graced the altar of St. Thomas the Apostle Church today for the wedding of Mary Louise Perryman and Robert Leo Caron.

The bride is a daughter of William Perryman of 2829 Lemuel, Muskegon Heights, and the late Mrs. Perryman. Mr. Caron is a son of Mrs. Leo Caron, 510 N. 20th St., Escanaba, and the late Mr. Caron.

The 10 a. m., double ring ceremony was solemnized by Fr. Arnold Thompson, pastor, who was celebrant of the Nuptial High Mass. A breakfast was served immediately following the service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Norby, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, and the newlyweds will be feted at a reception from 5 to 9 p. m., at Teamsters Hall.

The bride entered the church with her father, who escorted her down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. Rookie Bobble Costs Reds Game

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
It didn't take Don Pavletich too long to make a mark for himself.
Less than an inning, in fact. The mark, however, was a red face resulting from a rare and costly error that helped first-place Philadelphia edge Cincinnati 5-4 Friday night and move one game ahead of San Francisco in the National League race.
Pavletich played with Cincinnati last season but was assigned to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League this year.

Thanks to an injury to John Edwards, the Reds' regular catcher, Pavletich battled his way back to the majors.
He made his first appearance Friday night, walking as a pinch hitter for starting catcher Hal Smith in the seventh inning. Then came his 1964 catching debut in the eighth.
Pinch hitter Danny Cater opened the inning with a single. With Costen Shockley at bat, Pavletich tossed the ball back to pitcher Bill Henry. The ball, however, went astray, landing behind the reliever. Before anyone could recover it, Cater raced to second.
Shockley grounded out, sending Cater to third where he scored on Clay Dalrymple's squeeze bunt.
The run seemed somewhat harmless at the time, as it gave the Phillies a 5-3 lead. But Vada Pinson homered for the Reds' final run in the eighth.
Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch credited Cater with alert base running on the play, but Reds' Manager Fred Hutchinson undoubtedly had another way of saying it.
The Giants also had some error trouble in losing to Houston 5-2. Los Angeles nipped Chicago 3-2 and St. Louis trimmed New York 9-8 in other National League games. Rain washed out a doubleheader between Pittsburgh and Milwaukee.

Participants in the Upper Peninsula Women's Golf Tournament which will begin Monday at the Escanaba Country Club may begin registering Sunday afternoon. All foursomes for tournament play will be posted in the clubhouse by early Sunday afternoon.

Roberts Wins 5-0 On Tigers 11 Hits

By GORDON BEARD
By The Associated Press
BALTIMORE (AP) — Robin Roberts took the good-natured heckling from his teammates, and moved up another notch in the record books.
The Baltimore Orioles needed Roberts Friday night after the 37-year-old right-hander allowed 11 hits but still managed to pitch a 5-0 shutout over the Detroit Tigers.
His 40th career shutout was the 26th major league victory for Roberts, tying him for 20th place on the all-time list with an obscure pitcher named August Weyhing who played in the majors from 1887 to 1901.
Up ahead are more familiar names. One more victory will move Roberts into an 18th place tie with Bob Feller and Eppa Rixey. Then comes Burleigh Grimes at 270 and Red Ruffing at 273.
But that's in the future. Roberts is more concerned now with his contributions to Baltimore's run for the American League pennant. Friday's victory kept the first-place Orioles one-half game ahead of the New York Yankees.
"The outcome has a particularly nice ring to it," Robin said wryly, discounting but not forgetting the 11 hits. "That might be my all time high for allowing hits in a shutout."

"Let's see, I had a six-hitter going into the eighth inning," Roberts added with a smile.
The Tigers added three more hits to load the bases with two out in the eighth, and collected two more in the ninth. Roberts ended both threats by getting the final outs on well-hit fly balls.
Manager Hank Bauer said he almost replaced Roberts in the eighth, when slugger Bill Freehan represented the tying run at the plate with Baltimore ahead 4-0.
But Roberts stymied both threats and gave Baltimore's overworked bullpen another day of rest. It was the third consecutive complete game by an Oriole pitcher.
It was the sixth complete game for Roberts—tops on the Oriole staff—and gave him a 7-4 record with a 2.64 earned run average.
"The Tigers' hits plus one walk enabled them to put a runner on base in every inning, and four times the leadoff man reached base. But the eighth was the first time a Tiger went beyond second base."
The two teams play a twin-night doubleheader tonight, with Mickey Lolich (8-6) and Hank Aguirre (2-4) scheduled to pitch for Detroit against Wally Bunker (9-2) and Milt Pappas (7-4).

Then Mead went to work in the fourth inning and gave pitcher Chum Derouin a workout. They slammed four singles, scoring four runs and sent eight men to the plate. Mead added two more insurance runs in the fifth when Bill Lancour and Tod Butler poked two-baggers.
Tod Butler had a no-hitter going for Mead until the sixth when Bill Carlson lined a clean single to center and Derouin helped his cause by bringing Carlson home with a double.
Butler made seven of the first eight putouts himself by fanning batters. He wound up with 13 strikeouts to his credit.

Lancour and Con Yagodzinski each collected two hits for the winners.
In National Division action Teamsters sailed through Mead 3 to the tune of 10-4. Teamsters got off to a bad start when the first three Mead's men walked, the next batter got a single and the next one got a walk, scoring four runs. Jack Berglund came in during the first part of the second inning after Dick Brietenbach had walked two more batters, and he held the opponent's scoreless the rest of the way, allowing only one hit.

In the 9 o'clock game in the winner's bracket, Hall Insurance tripped Bero Motors 3-1 despite the fact that opposing pitcher Dale Bitner threw a one-hitter at them.
Dick Bizeau gained the victory for Hall Insurance on a three-hitter. Bizeau fanned 12 Bero men and walked three. Hall Insurance got all of their runs in the second on a couple of walks and a wild pitch. They were all unearned.

Esky Students Compete Today At Track Meet

Escanaba Area High School football and track coach Jerry Cveugros and two of his top shotputters left yesterday afternoon for Mt. Pleasant, Michigan where the boys will participate in the United States Track and Field Federation's Michigan All-Comers Meet.
The two boys, Jim Hansen and Bill Sarnowski, fired the shot further than any other muscle men in the history of the school. Sarnowski broke the school record by throwing the 12 weight over 48 feet, and a week later Hansen was a week late with a toss that would have been a school record. Sarnowski, not to be caught by Hansen, waited until the Upper Peninsula Finals to fire the iron ball more than 50 feet.
The boys and Cveugros will return to Escanaba late tonight. Upwards of 300 track and field performers are expected to be entered in the meet.
Central Michigan University track coach Lyle Bennett, director of the meet which is the northernmost one of the series of summer meets and the first to be held on a week-end date, says that the entries are split almost equally between the senior (17 and over) and junior (under 17) athletes and also expects some girls to enter the women's events.
The meet will be run on the CMU Alumni Field track and has already attracted entries from several Upper Peninsula towns and from all the geographic areas of the Lower Peninsula in the first USTFF Meet that has been slated for Central.
Besides the number of outside entries, a number of former and current Central thin-clads currently on campus in summer school sessions are also expected to compete.
Events on the program cover the conventional track meet's slate with sprints, middle-distance races and a full range of field events.

3 — Winner of Newberry - Trenary plays the loser of Hermansville - Stephenson game.

Powers - Hermansville 9, Newberry 2. Powers coach Bob Smith pulled his first line pitcher, Dennis McClure, after only three innings to save the strong left arm for the weekend's heavy schedule.
Over at Gladstone's Bay Shore diamond, it was a different story as Stephenson sweat-ed out a last inning bid by Trenary. Moving into the top of the ninth, Stephenson's pitcher, Roger Wood had things pretty much his own way scattering the Trenary hits and keeping them out of the scoring column. Wood weakened in the ninth allowing two Trenary runs and then loaded the bases before he struck out the last two batters to give Stephenson a 3-2 win.
Tourney action continues today with morning and afternoon games. Sunday's schedule calls for 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. games at both Gladstone and Escanaba diamonds.
By this time two of the four teams in the loser's bracket are out of the tournament. They are Gladstone, Manistique, Trenary and Stephenson. They clashed this morning in the 10 o'clock games. The winners of those games will battle it out with the losers from the winner's bracket on Sunday.
The loser of the Escanaba - Menominee game will meet the winner of the Manistique-Gladstone game at Escanaba at 10:30 on Sunday morning. The loser in the Hermansville-Stephenson game will meet the winner of the Trenary-Newberry game at 3 p.m. at Gladstone on Sunday.

Following brief afternoon showers the sun shone on Legion tournament contenders, Stephenson and Powers-Hermansville, as they slipped past Trenary and Newberry in games played in Escanaba and Gladstone last night.
At the Escanaba diamond an inexperienced Newberry team tossed away the ball game in the third inning by throwing them "where they ain't." Three throwing errors combined with three walks and two hits yielded six big runs for the Powers-Hermansville boys and that was more than enough to win the old ball game. A brief Newberry flare-up in the seventh produced two runs. Final score:

Kiwanis Leads Esky BR Teams

Close games were the feature of play in Babe Ruth baseball action this week at the league field. In Tuesday night's thriller, Mead Paper Company eked out a 3 to 2 decision over Teamster Local 328, with 13 year old Loren Kositzky turning in a masterful 2 hitter for the winners. Dick Niemi allowed only three hits for the losers but two of them were doubles by Butch LaBay, Mead center-fielder.
On Wednesday night Harnischfeger Local 632 and Insurance Agents Association put on an 8-inning show with Harnischfeger coming through with a 7 to 6 victory. Gerry Richards went all the way for the Harnies with Lee Robitaille absorbing another one-run loss for Insurance.
Monday night's rained out game between Kiwanis Club and Escanaba Banks was played Thursday and Kiwanis was able to tighten its hold on first place by taking a 6 to 1 decision. Young Steve Miketkin fired a neat 3-hitter in his first starting assignment in Babe Ruth competition, and Bob Myrvall put Kiwanis ahead to stay with a three-run homer in the fourth inning.
The big news next week is the exhibition game featuring two All Star teams chosen from the six Babe Ruth clubs. The contest is scheduled for next Thursday night at 5:30 and it should provide loyal fans who contributed so generously to the Tag Day solicitation with a look at some of the future baseball stars. There will be no admission charge or collection and everyone is invited to attend.
The complete schedule for next week follows:
Monday—Harnischfeger Local 632 vs. Teamsters Local 328.
Tuesday—Kiwanis Club vs. Insurance Agents Association.
Wednesday—Mead Paper Company vs. Escanaba Banks.
Thursday—All Star Game.
Saturday—Mead Paper Company vs. Insurance Agents Association at 10; Kiwanis Club vs. Harnischfeger Local 632 at 1; Escanaba Banks vs. Teamsters Local 328 at 3.
The standings:

Stuart's Homers Save Oriole Lead

By DICK COUCH
By The Associated Press
Dick Stuart has been eased out and shut out in two American League All-Star polls. He is not a favorite son candidate for 1964's Golden Glove award.
But Old Stone Fingers is first in the hearts of a couple of countrymen.
When big Stu batted in the sixth inning of Boston's 5-0 victory over Washington Friday night, some of the Fenway Park faithful hoisted a banner proclaiming: "Dick Stuart, greatest American since Ted Williams."
Whereupon the patriot hit his second two-run homer of the evening and boosted his league-leading RBI figure to 77.
Stuart may not be this nation's answer to the Red Menace. He doesn't even expect to hit 400 this year (current batting average .264). But, like former Red Sox great Williams, he can rattle those friendly Fenway Park fences.
The National League alumnus' second homer was his 22nd of the season and sixth in five games, beginning last Monday against the Senators. Stuart has driven in 14 runs during the sport and appears certain to top his 1963 league-leading total of 118 RBI.

He hit homers Monday and Tuesday, then a pair of three-run shots against Chicago Wednesday. The White Sox stopped him Thursday but he found the range again Friday night against Washington starter Al Koch and the circuits helped Bill Monbouquette breeze to his fifth victory.
Monbo didn't need much help. He fired a six-hitter for his second straight shutout—one of three turned in by American League pitchers.
Baltimore's Robin Roberts blanked Detroit 5-0 while Fred Newman and Bob Lee combined for the Los Angeles Angels' 1-0 decision over Minnesota. Chicago's Gary Peters tossed a three-hitter as the White Sox trimmed Kansas City 6-1 and the New York Yankees clubbed Cleveland 8-4.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department announced Thursday it has endorsed a Senate bill to establish the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore in Michigan.

The department proposed several amendments to the legislation for the lakeshore on Lake Superior between Munising and Grand Marais.

The area of about 67,000 acres extends some 35 miles along the shoreline and varies from two to five miles in width. A key feature would be a scenic lake-shore drive.

The bill would provide for two adjacent units or zones. One, bordering the lake, would be the principal recreation use area. One adjoining it on the inland side would serve chiefly as a buffer zone. The buffer zone could be employed for sustained yield timber management and other appropriate use of renewable resources.

Chief among the amendments proposed would be an increase in the size of the recreation zone from 20,000 acres to about 28,500 acres, and a corresponding decrease in the inland buffer zone from 47,000 acres to about 38,500 acres.

Cherry Picking Help Is Needed

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A plea for help in harvesting bumper crops of cherries and blueberries was issued here Thursday by the Michigan Employment Security Commission branch office.

Lloyd VanSickle, crop area supervisor, said cherry pickers are needed in the Grand Rapids, Grant and Hart-Shelby areas and blueberry harvest hands are needed in the Muskegon area.

Cherry harvesters normally stay on to assist with the blueberry harvest, VanSickle said, but ideal ripening conditions this year have matured the blueberry crop before the cherry harvest is over.

Swiftly To Get Permits On Gas Mich Con Acts

Communities and townships in the southern Upper Peninsula area in which Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. proposes to furnish natural gas service in 1965 acted quickly this week to aid the Detroit utility get Michigan Public Service Commission approval of the proposed gas line.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has set Wednesday, July 22 for hearing in Lansing on the petition of Mich Con to serve an area from Rapid River in the Upper Peninsula. Gas would be provided from the Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co.'s pipe line, which now terminates at Menominee.

Mich Con proposes to build a 16 inch pipe line from Menominee north to Powers-Spalding, an 8 inch line to Escanaba and a 6 inch line beyond to Rapid River. The proposed service area would include Ford River, Mich. Con, says Fred McIntire, vice president-sales, proposes to build taxable installations in Delta County with a total value of $3.5 million. The western arm of the "T" shaped pipe line to Iron Mountain-Randville would be 10 inches and the line beyond to Iron River 8 inches.

Iron County For It

McIntire reported late yesterday that Mich Con had obtained approval of permits to provide natural gas service to the following Menominee Range communities in Iron County: Mineral Hills, Iron River, Caspian, Stambaugh, Gastra and Crystal Falls. It also signed the Iron County Townships of Stambaugh, Iron River, Bates, Crystal Falls and Mansfield. This completes the utility's quest of permissions to serve in Iron County, said McIntire.

In Dickinson County Mich Con signed the Townships of Sagola, Felch, Breitung and Norway. It also signed the City of Kingsford, and set up meetings with the representatives of Waucedah, Iron Mountain and Norway.

In Menominee County the Townships of Harris and Nadeau granted permits and the Village of Stephenson is to act Monday night.

The Gladstone City Commission met informally Friday night in Gladstone City Hall with McIntire and Mich Con Atty. Karl Seavitt. Representatives of the Delta County Townships of Brampton, Escanaba, Wells, Masonville and Bark River also attended.

Act On Monday

Gladstone City Manager H. J. Hendrickson said most of the townships indicated that they would act between now and Monday to give Mich Con a permit to sell them gas.

"We are calling a special meeting of the Gladstone City Commission for 7:30 p. m. Monday," said Hendrickson "to act in the matter. We thought we were going along with Michigan Consolidated's project and acted earlier to start enactment of an ordinance, but we find now that all they are asking is a permit which can be granted by simple resolution of the commission. I'm sure that this action will be taken on Monday evening."

The City of Escanaba is not such a simple case. Mich Con Executive Vice President Hugh Daily on Thursday asked the Escanaba City Council for a letter of interest in the Mich Con pipe line project. After hours of discussion the Escanaba Council took no action.

Escanaba owns a municipal gas utility. Mich Con proposes to buy it as a condition of its natural gas service in the city. In Gladstone Mich Con would create a distribution system, as there is none at present.

Escanaba Situation

A letter of interest in the

Mich Con project, Escanaba councilmen feared, might be construed as a commitment to sell the city's gas utility. This could be done only by vote of 60 per cent of electors of Escanaba. City council at present is having a study made of the advisability of the city's sale of its gas utility and steam heating plant to Mich Con. Black & Veatch, the consulting engineers making the study, have not reported their findings yet.

The study will also cover proposal of natural gas sale to the city by Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, which proposes to build a pipe line from Duluth eastward in the U. P. to Escanaba-Gladstone. The cities would be served on a southern branch of the pipe line, which would also serve Iron Mountain and Hanna Mining Co.'s Groveland Mine at Randville. Hanna announced recently that it had signed with Mich Con to supply gas to the mine plant. How this would affect til the wedding, at an undisclosed place.

Believes Him Innocent

The romance began nearly five years ago. Mrs. Tebbenjohanns came to stay in the United States a year ago from her native Dusseldorf.

Mrs. Tebbenjohanns became interested in the Sheppard case and in 1959 wrote the family that she believed Sheppard was innocent.

The doctor is free on order of a U.S. district court judge who held Wednesday that Sheppard didn't get a fair trial when convicted of second-degree murder in Cleveland in 1954.

However, a U.S. court of appeals later issued a stay that overruled the order which permitted Sheppard's freedom, but did not call for his rearrest.

Authorities are expected to file a motion to return Sheppard to prison.

Hart Will Be First Witness In Park Hearing

U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) will be first witness Monday at 10 a.m. at a hearing by a Senate Subcommittee headed by Senator Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis) on the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore bill.

The legislation in Congress was proposed by Senator Hart and Senator Pat McNamara (D-Mich). The public hearing on the bill which opens here in William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, Escanaba Junior High School is primarily to permit local and state organizations and individuals to express their views on the proposal to establish a national recreational facility on the south shore of Lake Superior in the Munising area including the famed Pictured Rocks.

The Senate Public Lands Subcommittee will conduct the hearing here. It is a unit of the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs headed by Senator Alan Bible (D-Nevada).

Senator Hart is expected in his testimony to stress the economic aid to the Upper Peninsula which he has projected in his advocacy of the federal lakeshore park, and of the need for set-aside of such strategic scenic and recreational areas for public use.

There has been no objection to the Pictured Rocks Lakeshore idea in the Upper Peninsula, but there has been publicly expressed concern by groups like Forum on Resources of Upper Michigan on the format of the park proposal. Forum has suggested that a scenic highway should be a part of the total park concept and has questioned the size of the park area in connection with its effect on wood industry in the area.

Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. would be the chief loser of forest acreage with implementation of the bill. It would take a part of the forest production needed to provide wood for CCI's new Hartho sawmill on a sustained yield basis. Sponsors of the bill have not been inclined to suggest replacement of CCI land losses with exchange of federal lands in the area, so the acquisition would continue the process which has put about 40 per cent of U.P. land in federal or state ownership.

Hart's bill would create a National Lakeshore of 67,000 acres stretching from Munising to Grand Marais.

It would create an area along the shore for federal ownership and a buffer zone back of it in which Federal Forest Service standards would be enforced in forest management.

Wells Suspect In Hepatitis

There have been no new hepatitis (yellow jaundice) cases reported in the past week to the Delta Memorie Health Department in Delta County but the Department says the danger of further infection continues.

Dr. Mary L. Cretens, director of the department, said that its sanitarians' check on well water in the Rock area where most of the cases were reported, still showed undesirable high count of coliform bacteria.

The area is on fractured limestones which make seepage transmission of infections easy. There have been 20 cases of infectious hepatitis, a viral liver disease, in Delta County in the past few months, starting with an epidemic of 11 cases in the Rock area.

Most common means of spreading the disease is from feces by failure to wash the hands, and by effluents from septic tanks seeping into ground water supplies.

The Health Department reported the general quality of water in the Rock area as poor and has suggested community action to provide a central water supply subject to sanitation controls. There are government aids for the creation of such a utility.

Also treated were 17 cases of exhaustion, four heart attacks, three cases of hypertension, one stiff neck and two cases of vocal strain.

Library Group Meets, Plans Benefit Sale

RAPID RIVER—Friends of the Rapid River Library met at the Bay de Noc Elementary School Wednesday evening. Mrs. Loyal Sigfrids treasurer, reported the library's indebtedness was $144.15, $128.84 to Anderson Lumber Co. and $15.31 to Richardson's Gamble Store. Proceeds from the May community bake sale netted $67.50 leaving a bill balance of $77.55.

The library group has decided to hold another bake sale to clear the library's debt. The sale will be held on Wednesday, July 29, at "The Little Red Wagon", and will begin at 11 a. m. The Red Wagon, property of the Congregational Church of Rapid River, has graciously been donated by the church to be used for this community sale.

Donations of baked goods, jams, jellies, pickles or anything a person wishes to give will be appreciated. The library serves Masonville, Bay de Noc and Ensign townships.
